

Take into account:

1. I will bring a snack typical of my country. We will eat all the different snacks during the International Welcome Reception Monday evening.
2. I will be able to have a discussion about education in different countries: I will know some facts about my own country, and will make a short (!) powerpoint
3. The theme of this week is theatre sport. I will dare not to prepare myself for anything.

What is an International Week?

Within the network Association Comenius, several universities and university colleges teacher training organize international weeks for students. These exchanges provide the opportunity for (first and) second year students to go and explore another teacher training department, for just one or two weeks. This gives the student the possibility to gain intercultural knowledge and experiences, cross boundaries, to make new friends and to get to know a new institution. Very often the student decides to step into an Erasmus-program the following year. Very often the student decides. The student steps very often. A step to an Erasmus-program. Often. Step. Go!

Educational Drama & Improvisation

To teach is to act and to act is to dramatize.
To dramatize is to play and to play is to laugh.
This will make you giggle, laugh, and learn by doing.
No preparations for these classes:
By improvising we overcome all boundaries known (and not).
Dare not to prepare.
